

vxi parrott

CP100 headset for cordless/mobile phones

Freedom for your hands.

Using a headset can make you feel better physically, increase your productivity and reduce your stress level.

You know how it is. The phone rings and you find yourself in a long conversation, or you make a call and end up on hold waiting for someone to answer. Meanwhile, you've got things to do.

Plug the VXI Parrott CP100 headset into your home cordless or mobile phone's 2.5mm headset jack and free both hands to work, practice your hobbies, care for your kids, or drive with both hands on the wheel.

The noise canceling microphone blocks out background noise for improved audio quality and a more enjoyable call. The upper and lower cords easily separate should you need to temporarily disconnect from the handset. The comfortable design sits securely on your head while you're on the move.

features & benefits

- Noise canceling microphone greatly reduces background noise.
- Flexible microphone boom is quick to adjust and stays in place.
- Concave ear cushion for improved sound and greater comfort.
- Express Disconnect allows easy separation from handset.
- Lightweight, attractive design for all day wear.
- Coil cord extends to accommodate taller users.
- Compatible with home cordless and cellular phones with 2.5mm jack.
- Left or right side microphone placement.
- One-year warranty.

